

Crime Solved 2311

Crime Solved.

“Hello Terry.”

“Afternoon, David.

“What have you been doing?”

“Looking for Sensitive Skin washing powder. My usual supplier had put up the price from £2.50 to £10.”

“That’s a big increase.”

“Twice the amount but I don’t want that much.”

“Did you buy anything else?”

“No, I was looking for a warm jacket. A bother jacket, that kind of thing. I want to pick up the leaves in my garden. And the weather has turned real cold. The charity shops didn’t have any.”

”That’s because of the cold span we’re going through.”

“Do you know the time?”

“Just a second. Oh! My mobile has gone. Someone must have stolen it!”

“David you’re speaking into it!”

“So I am! That’s worrying.”

“Crime solved, though.

Or should I say, suspected crime solved.”

The End